

Purina® Farm to Flock® Block

Protein as Nature Intended

Spoil Your Hens, Not Their Diet.

Purina® Farm to Flock® Block is a balanced recipe made with goodies like wheat, barley, milo, sunflower seed, oyster shell, and black soldier fly larvae. It provides enrichment no matter the season. In the summer, place the Farm to Flock® Block outside for birds to peck and encourage natural pecking behavior. In colder weather, the block supplement can be a useful boredom buster, giving birds a place to peck - keeping the flock occupied and less likely to peck one another while in the coop.

High-protein treat

Specially formulated high-protein nugget that provides an added nutritional boost to help keep birds strong; a great treat option especially during molt when birds need additional protein.

Sustainable protein source

Insect protein requires less land per pound of protein than other common protein sources.

Delicious taste

Wholesome combination of scrumptious goodies.

Contains oyster shell

To aid in eggshell quality.

Encourages natural pecking instincts

Solid grains provide enrichment activity in the coop.

Backyard happiness

Keeps the flock entertained and part of the family.

FEEDING DIRECTIONS

Purina® Farm to Flock® Block is designed to supplement the diet of laying chickens and turkeys. This is not intended to be the sole ration. Feed along with a complete and balanced Purina® Poultry diet. To maximize the block's lifespan, place something underneath the block to avoid direct contact with the ground to prevent moisture buildup. Free-ranging chickens and turkeys will regulate their consumption according to the availability of natural diet.
